TOURNAMENT HISTORY

The Spike Out Volleyball Tournament was founded in 1999 by the Indiana School for the Deaf Athletic Director and Volleyball Coach Brian Bippus and Model Secondary School for the Deaf Volleyball Coach Lynn Ray Boren, who envisioned a national deaf volleyball tournament bringing together outstanding teams and student-athletes. The idea was to bring top teams to one site and let them "spike each other out" to claim the national championship. The school who wins that year's tournament often wins the year's Deaf Prep National Volleyball Championship.

Indiana School for the Deaf hosted the inaugural tournament in 1999 with eight participating schools. Texas School for the Deaf defeated Model Secondary School for the Deaf in the first ever championship match.
